Sharron Angle Supports President Trump And Secretary Zinke Reviewing the Sage Grouse conservation efforts “Protecting This Bird Has Been An Excuse To Take Property From Nevadans Illegally, It Should Stop”

Reno, Nevada: - Sharron Angle released her policy on the review of Sage Grouse conservation opposing extreme environmentalist efforts to have it placed on the Endangered Species List. She supports the President and Secretary Zinke in the development of a state plan.

Sharron Angle Has A Policy To Protect Nevada: “I’ve watched property owners suffer under federal species preservation policy imposed under the Endangered Species Act that amounts to a takings of private property and economic growth in many states. The policy should be constitutional aligning with the tenth amendment giving each state the opportunity to create its own plan relying more on numbers of birds rather than habitat preservation,” Sharron Angle said after reviewing impending legislation by Representative Rob Bishop. Her policy paper on Federal Lands Acts is now available at www.SharronAngle.com
